LEVE LEVE, PEACE CHIEF OF THE WALLAPAI PASSES TO HAPPY HUNTING GROUNDS

Leve Leve, peace chief of the Wallapai, is dead. After months of suffering he passed to the happy hunting ground last Saturday night.

Just how old Leve-Leve was is problematical. When the writer came to this country nearly 40 years ago he was an old man in fact, though the aborigines of the southwest look old at the age of 30 years. But no matter how old the chief was nor what his mode of life might have been he was in his way a splendid old fellow. When the first white men came to this part of Arizona he made friends with them and during his long life that friendship was never broken. Along in the early seventies members of his tribe and the band of Indians under Wallapai Charley and Sherum attacked camp Beale Springs, three miles west of the present town of Kingman, and would surely have massacred the whole garrison had it not been for Leve-Leve and his wife, Mrs. Leve-Leve stood upon the roof of rock running through the camp and talked for hours to her warriors urging them to go to their camp and compel the other Indians to return to their homes. Her harangue continued until the arrival of Leve-Leve with Indians just off a hunting trip and he drove the Sherum Indians away and saved the post.

After the establishment of the Colorado Indian reservation, below Parker, on the Colorado river, an attempt was made to place all Wallapais there with the Yumas and Mohaves, but Leve-Leve brought his tribe back and no effort was ever made again to place them on the reservation. He has resided in and around Kingman since the town was established and was a familiar figure on our streets until a few months ago, when he became too feeble to move about.

About six months ago Mrs. Leve-Leve died and was buried out in the hills to the southeast of the town with usual Indian honors and Sunday morning last, as the first streaks of sun showed over the Wallapais the body of Chief Leve-Leve was borne to its last resting place under the towering mountain that had been his hunting ground since early boyhood. May all that he hoped to realize in the Happy Hunting Grounds of his fathers be his.

TAR AND FEATHERS FOR BELITTLING LIBERTY LOAN

A fellow named Neilson was treated to a coat of tar and feathers at Hayden, the other day. Neilson is reported to have gone into a pool hall where Liberty Loan posters were displayed and made remarks derogatory to the government. He was arrested and reported to the federal authorities at Phoenix. The remarks were not sufficient to constitute an offense under the law and Neilson was discharged.irate citizens took up the matter and organized a posse, which took the man to the outskirts of town and gowned him in a dress suit of tar and feathers. He was started on his way from somewhere to nowhere and told to never come back. He may be going yet.

ALIEN ARRESTED

Paul Bode, who was recently injured by being run down by the truck of the Chloride fire department, was arrested at Oatman Monday last by deputy Sheriff William Mackie on a charge of failing to obtain a permit from the postmaster at Chloride to leave that district. Bode is a registered alien enemy. The man stated that he had gone from Chloride, but that when he arrived at Oatman he deposited his identification card and was informed that he should have asked for a permit before leaving that town. The matter will be thoroughly investigated by the department and if the man intended no wrong it is possible that he will be released.

Bode came to the United States from Germany ten years ago, but still remained a vassal of the kaiser, and had served in the German army.

We could not obtain definite figures on the loan throughout the nation but it is believed that in spite of the sickness throughout the country, the full $6,000,000,000 will be subscribed.

MOHAVE COUNTY MEN LEAVE FOR SERVICE

"Lud" Bacon and C. B. Head left early this week for Vancouver, Wash., in the limited service class. Before they left these young heavyweights said they would guarantee to cut more spruce timber than any six men at the camp. Mohave County will be well represented.

KING ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF MURDERING TWO BOYS

M. B. King, who is charged with the murder to two youths at Black river, in Gila county on the 24th of last month, was arrested in the western part of Socorro county, New Mexico a few days ago and is being returned to the scene of the crime. The arrest was made by R. L. Newman, of Navajo county, Arizona. The young Arthur Beam and Paul McCurray, were residents of Deming, New Mexico. When last seen they were with King, and when he was arrested the officers found in his possession bloody blankets, leggings, two automatic pistols, shotgun rifle and other articles that belonged to the murdered boys. King refused to discuss the crime.

The bodies of Beam and McCurray were found in Black river about the first of this month. Their heads had been crushed and their bodies weighted down with rock. Indians reported that the boys were with King when the party passed through Fort Apache on a hunting trip. The crime was one of the most horrible in the history of the state, but the murderer will only get a few years in the pen for it, unless the people take the law into their own hands and summarily string the fiend up.

With Whiskey selling at $20 a gallon in San Francisco and Champagne at $25 a bottle the fellow who acquires a jag must indeed be numbered among the millionaires. Jack Howlett, of Oatman, was the hunting partner of Ted Carter last week and succeeding in bringing back a buck for himself as well.

KEEP THE "FLU" OUT OF KINGMAN

Up to this morning but one case of Spanish influenza had been reported in Kingman, that being Gus Rafinot.

With six cases at Hackberry, three at Valentine, one at Oatman and several at Needles, the Board of Health has decided to quarantine the town, prohibiting people from going or coming.

The Board of Health is also issuing an order making the spraying of the throat and nostrils compulsory at least twice a day. A spraying station will be inaugurated at a downtown point and nurses sworn in for the emergency will cover the town with spraying outfits.

The serious results of the disease can be thwarted if ALL the people cooperate with the Health Department in making conditions such that it will be hard for the influenza to get a foothold here.

In fact if there is this complete cooperation we are liable to get off very light.

All garbage and other filth should be removed from the town. The County Supervisors will see that such is hauled away if notified.

Anyone familiar with nursing should notify Mrs. O. E. Walker, who has been appointed by the Superintendent of Health to help in case of an emergency.

This is a time when we can all help ourselves and each other if we go about the matter in a cool headed manner and use precautionary methods.

On Page seven will be found a detailed statement concerning Spanish influenza, sent out by our government, and therefore authentic.
